【內文 Content】

此為林場通往金針花種植區旁之作業道。

採用混凝土擋土牆配合石籠工法，穩固坡腳，具有生態功能。

台灣金針花的盛產期為每年8~9月，一片黃澄澄的金針花景觀，除視覺饗宴外，金針花干(農民在花朵綻放前將花苞摘下，經過烘乾、加工等處理製成之乾燥品)也是多種人體所需營養成份。

This trail was originally built and used as a working path to connect the forest reserve and the plantation area of orange daylily.

The gabion structure was installed to stabilize the slope toe, as the high water content of soil mass in the slope may result in a risk of differential settlement.

The flowers of the orange daylily often bloom between August and September every year in Taiwan. As these flowers are fragile in the natural weathering condition, the farmers prefer to pick them before they are in full bloom for oven dry and processing.

From August to October, visitors will be able to appreciate the beautiful sceneries of orange daylily flowers. In addition to being a festive visual, the orange daylily flowers also contain great nutritional values beneficial to our health.
